PROFILE

Dahlia is an organizational developer & social worker and has many years of experience in consulting, assessments as well as facilitating trainings. They have developed and facilitated training programs, inclusive events as well as educational resources. After having worked in the field of traditional social work for several years Dahlia now specializes in anti-discrimination within organizations. They support teams in developing and implementing inclusive structures for everyone. Through focusing on the fields of migration and social justice during their studies and being a queer person of color with diasporic roots Dahlia's stance is intersectional.
